CANDIDATES FOR C. O. P. NOMINATIONS PLEAD THEIR CASES BEFORE WOMEN VOTERS OF CLEARFIELD BOROUGH

The several candidates for public office who hope to get through the eye of the needle Tuesday and through the eye of another needle in November by the use of the Republican party, today had a trying experience in the evening but the way they stood up under the ordeal leads the unbiased observer to opine that those with a nomination at the hands of the women voters are each and every one worthy of the task.

It was very evident that all of these fellows had washed away all the stains of the cold and the smoke of the battle for they appeared before the meeting held under the auspices of the Council of Republican Women all dressed up and looking their manliest.

Mrs. Scott Piper presided, and with Mrs. Edgar Stage as secretary, the meeting was a got under way with a few introductory remarks by the chairwoman in which she told of the women's interest in government and asked the candidates to answer certain questions relative to the ways and whereof of their being in the race. The candidates were all lined up in the first but the audience which is the jury that is now sitting in judgment occupied the seats in the court room proper.

Taking the offices as they are generally recorded as to importance and the candidates alphabetically as to name, Mrs. Piper announced that Mr. H. A. Murray had telephoned that he was detained by a motor accident and would not arrive until later so the other candidate for the judgeship, the highest honor, A. R. Chaso, was introduced. Mr. Chaso said he had studied the judicial situation for many months before he announced his candidacy with a view to determining in his own mind whether he should be a candidate; that he had weighed its responsibilities and was ready to assume them, and that he had submitted his name to a considerable portion of the judiciary with a view to ascertaining whether his name would meet with favor. Receiving many favorable replies he became a candidate. He paid high tribute to this wonderful county of Clearfield, and its citizens, stating that he had found the great majority keenly interested in their government and anxious to discuss county affairs. He stated emphatically he would make no pledges to any man or set of men except that great pledge, the oath of office, which would bind him to perform the duties of the office according to the law and with justice and equity to all.

Woodland Community Day Wonderful Success In Every Way; Fine Sports

Woodland did itself proud yesterday afternoon in a great Community Picnic which was participated in by about the whole of Bradford township. The affair which we understand was promoted by the Rooster Club was a huge success. The afternoon was devoted to the entertaining of the mothers and children and the latter together with the men, consumed over eleven hundred ice cream cones and a bushel of peas. The races and contests, under the direction of Mrs. Burton Duffy, made a great hit with all. U. B. Walker with his huskies lost the tug of war to Fred Mitchell's colts in a hotly contested tug which terminated when John Walker of the colts got a good toe hold and yanked his dad and his cohorts over the line in a jiffy. Honors in horseshoe pitching went to Reed Barger and Clair Young while Mrs. Jessie Leavish won the mule shoe pitching contest, it is said because of her long experience in handling Jesse. The Woodland baseball team won an exciting game by a 2 to 1 score. Wilson allowed but four hits and struck out 18, while his opponent allowed six hits and struck out 9. It was an errorless game.

Professo. Thayer was present to lead the Woodland band and the boys never were in better form, their music adding much to the enjoyment of the day. Their evening concert was way above the average and expectations and as a result the bazaar which was conducted for the benefit of the band netted about $200 for which the bandmen are very thankful to the Rooster Club, the business men and all who helped. Woodland seems to have caught the real spirit of co-operation, everybody had a real good time yesterday and it was all the result of working together. Thanks are due all around, each to the other.

COUNCIL MEETS TO ASSESS EXPENSE OF LEAVY AVE. PAVING

Incidentally Hears Report of Finances and Is Gratiified to Learn Nice Balances On Hand.

THANK THE WOMEN OBJECTS TO ANY DIST. CONTRACT

Borough Council met in special session last evening for the purpose of assessing the cost of paving Leavy avenue between Second and Third streets upon the abutting property owners. This street was paved on petition of the property owners who agreed to pay two thirds of the cost of such improvement. The paving cost approximately $10 per front foot. Of this amount the Borough paid one-third and the property owner on each side one-third.

Healthy Financial State
The report of the Clearfield Trust Company, Treasurer, was read at this meeting and showed Borough finances to be in a healthy state. The General Borough fund showed a balance of $17,300.88. The Bond fund balance amounts to $28,863.50, while there is a total of $6,414.58 in the Light and Water fund. The Shade Tree Commission has a balance of $141.80, the Board of Health has $171.30 to its credit, while $22.42 is contained in four other minor funds.

Clearfield's municipal affairs have been very economically administered the past couple of years as these healthy balances show, and council as a whole has reason to be justly proud of that fact.

Clearfield people pay more taxes into the County treasury than they do to support their municipal government, as of all the taxes paid in Clearfield but 10 mills or approximately $30,000 per year is utilized to conduct the affairs of the borough, including street and sewer repairs and improvements, fire and police protection administration and everything necessary to run the borough.

Thank Women's Club
President Rosser called the attention of Council to the fact that the Women's Club had completed the work of putting up street signs all over the borough and highly complimented the women on their progressive public spirit and said they were deserving of every praise for this good work. At the conclusion of President Rosser's remarks a unanimous vote of thanks was tendered the Women's Club, the Secretary being directed to transmit same to the Club.

The regular meeting of Council will be held Monday, Sept. 17th at 8 o'clock.

New York, Sept. 14.—The value of the mark has fallen so near zero that its value can be computed only with difficulty.

LITTLE BOY LESS THAN 3 YEARS OLD FOUND BY FATHER

Playing With Peas, The
Had Gone to
Ten Minutes Before
Bring Some Water

A SAD OCCURRENCE

Kerr Addition was the scene of a sad occurrence Thursday afternoon when little Stanley, 3 1/2 year old son of James and Mary Kerr, tumbled into a spring near his home and drowned.

The little fellow, the youngest of three children, was playing alone in the yard at his home yesterday afternoon. He had a little basket and about ten minutes before 5 o'clock went up to the spring alone to get the bucket full of water.

While stooping over to dip the bucket into the water little Stanley lost his balance and tumbled into the spring on his head. Nobody saw him fall but about 5 o'clock as the father a miner, was returning from his work he was shocked to find the child's body in the water.

He rushed the little fellow out dripping with the spring water and the unconscious burden to the Clearfield Hospital but the quest of life had fled and the doctors were powerless to render any aid.

The funeral was held from St. Francis church this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment in cemetery.

RECORD TRAFFIC IN HANDLED WITH EASE BY N. Y. C. EMPLOYEES

Figures given out by the New York Central Lines show that notwithstanding the unprecedented volume of traffic in recent months the system is not merely handling it with ease but actually has in reserve a substantial capacity to care for any possible increase in coming weeks.

For instance, during the first eight months of the year 3,128,000 cars of revenue freight were handled at stations on the New York Central Line, an increase of 10 per cent over the corresponding period of 1921 of 28.3 per cent over 1922, and even 31.9 per cent above 1919, when the country was eagerly getting rid of extra earnings left over from the war period.

To this must be added 2,000,000 cars received from operations including traffic interchanged between the respective New York Central Lines, approximating one third of the total and showing a similar increase over former years.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WEDDED

Miss Vida M. Wallace and Charles Malach were united in marriage on Sept. 12 at the Baptists parsonage by Rev. W. L. Crutcher. The ring ceremony was used. Miss Mabel Wallace, sister of the bride, Miss Esther Malach, sister of the groom, and Charles Schnarr, friend of the bride and groom, were witnesses of the ceremony.

After a honeymoon to Buffalo and Niagara, they will reside in Clearfield.

DR. RACHEL REED SAFE

Archer H. Reed received a telegram from the State Department at Washington last evening to the effect that a cablegram from Ambassador Woods at Tokyo gave the welcome information that his sister, Dr. Rachel Reed was safe.

Dr. Reed's property in Tokio was destroyed by the earthquake and while her relatives here have had no word direct from her they expect a cable or letter at any time now.

Coolidge Telegram To Governor Pinchot Is Finally Made Public

Harriburg, Sept. 12.—A message of congratulation from President Coolidge to Governor Pinchot upon the settlement of the anthracite coal controversy here last week was made public tonight. With it was a brief statement by the government explaining that the telegram was given out upon receipt of word from the President's secretary, C. Bascom Kemp, that Mr. Coolidge expected Mr. Pinchot to make it public.

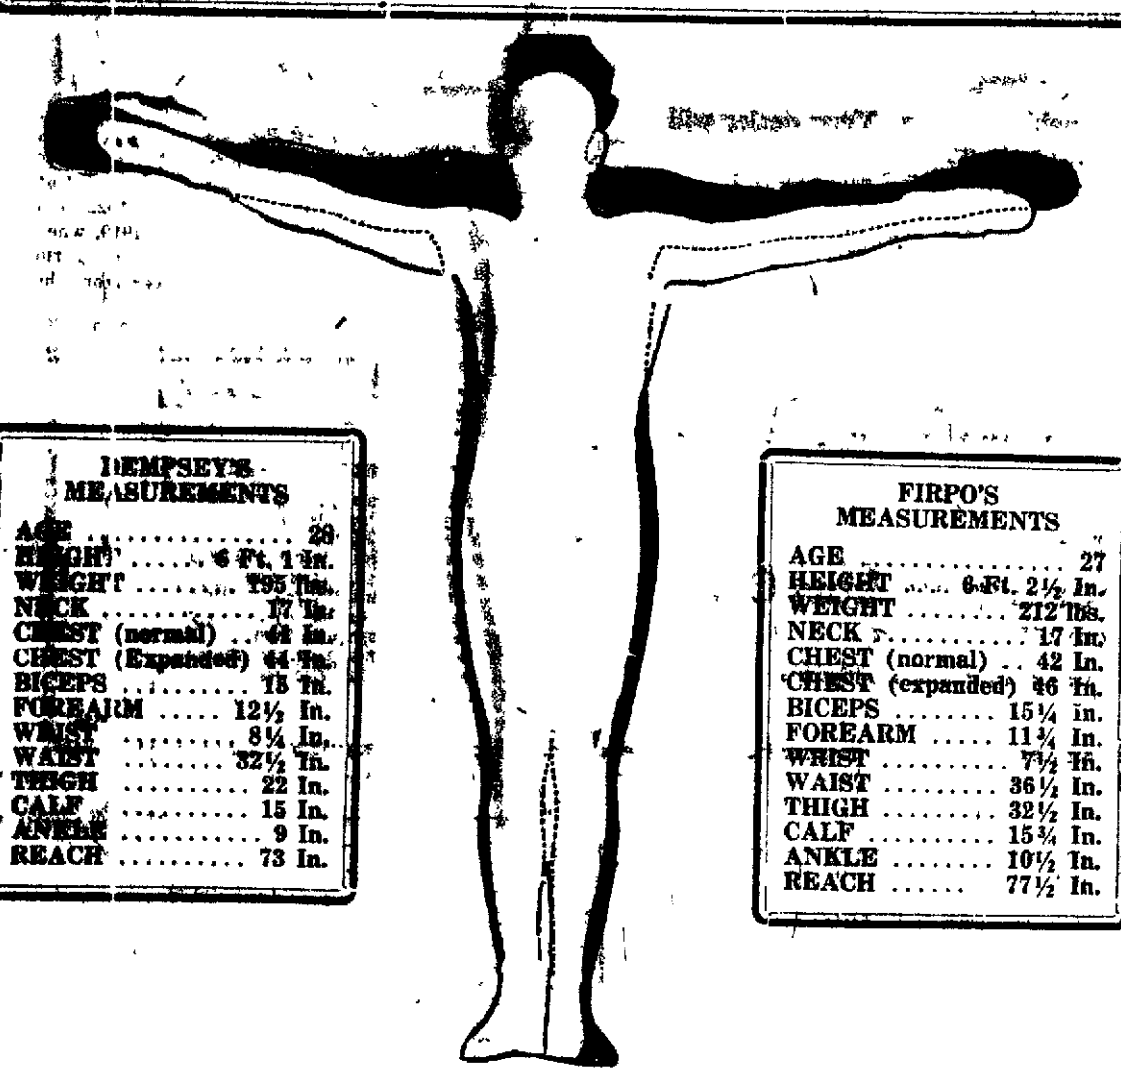

President Coolidge's message was dated September 7, the day before the anthracite operators' representatives and mine union officials agreed finally upon terms of settlement. The message said:

"Please accept my heartiest congratulations on the settlement of the coal controversy. It was a very difficult situation in which I invited your cooperation. Your management of it was a distinct public service. I cannot commend it too highly. Certainly there ought to be a method devised for a settlement of disputes of this kind in accordance with principles of justice and fairness to all parties concerned. The economic recurring danger of lack of adequate supply of fuel is in itself a grave criticism of a great industry."

agreements were made at conferences where they were not represented. A system of national negotiations, with district agreements, which would avoid a standard rate cutting war, was suggested.

A continuing umpire was recommended for each district as indispensable to the growth of good relations and the organization of effective district and national bodies, the report said, should lead to the creation of national labor commissioner, to function similarly as do district commissioners.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD CADMAN AND PRINCESS TSINANINA

It seems to be the fact of nearly every composer to be known by one or two of his "little things"—songs or piano pieces—even though he may have produced serious works in the larger forms which have won the recognition of critics and serious-minded musicians.

This is true of Charles Wakefield Cadman, the American composer, who will make a public appearance in this city with the famous Indian singer, Princess Tsinanina on November 30th. Cadman has written serious chamber music and the scores of two grand operas, together with many orchestral compositions; yet the public at large knows him as the composer of "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water" and "At Dawning," songs made famous by Nordica, Bonci, Gluck, Nielsen, Princess Tsinanina, McCormack, Williams and a score of other great artists.

Here is a new departure method in the manner of comparing prizefighters. The gentleman in white is none other than Champion Jack Dempsey, against whom is silhouetted the blackened figure of Luis Firpo. These outlines are actual photographs, taken by Bob Dorman for The Clearfield Progress, who made them to scale and enlarged each the same amount.

When making the first picture, which was of Dempsey, Dorman marked the spot on his camera where it had been focused, and then hustled away to Atlantic City, where, setting his camera at the same mark again, he backed away from Firpo until the focus was sharp.

The combined results gave two photos—one of Dempsey and another of Firpo—which had exactly the same perspective and measurement in every detail. These were then cut out, superimposed and painted over, producing the graphic comparative sizeups seen above.

ODDS AND ENDS
AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

In this column in Wednesday's issue we replied to a request by G. O. Neff of Westover, as to the law pensioning judges in Pennsylvania. After quoting the law which provides that any judge after two terms on the bench may retire on a pension of half the salary he was receiving at the time of his retirement, for the purpose of giving all the natural and necessary information on the subject, we added a paragraph giving the present salary of the Judge of the Clearfield county courts, which is $10,000, and stated the further fact that for every day in which a judge holds court outside of his home county he is paid $20 per day and all expenses.

Judge Bell saw fit to take us to task in the matter in a communication published in The Progress yesterday. Judge Bell asserts our article was misleading, but if it was the law is misleading because we merely quoted Section 2 of the Judge's Pension Act, which was passed at the legislative session of 1919. In his letter Judge Bell also says:

"I seldom complain about published matter and certainly not with reference to the Progress, but in the issue of yesterday in answering an inquiry of Mr. G. O. Neff the pension matter is so discussed as to be entirely misleading. The serious objection is that it fails to print the proviso to the pension act, which reads as follows: 'Provided, that no compensation shall be paid under this Act for any period during which such judge is engaged in any remunerative business or employment.' There was no occasion or attempt to mislead anybody in our reply to Mr. Neff and we gave him with the proviso as furnished by Judge Bell. The proviso, as will be seen at a glance, makes no change in the pension law, except that it makes it optional with a judge who retires after two terms whether he will accept the pension or not.

In fact a judge who did not like the pension law might find himself in a position similar to that of the Lushman, whose physician prescribed whiskey for him when Pat was a very sick man. When the doctor had left Pat called his wife to his bedside and whispered: "Biddy, the doctor says I'll have to take whiskey, and if I get so sick that I don't want to take it make me take it."

CROOKED RUN CLUB ENTERTAINS

The members of Crooked Run Club and their wives and sweethearts to the number of 57, assembled at their new Club House last evening and enjoyed a sumptuous dinner. The dinner was the best ever served in the club and was enjoyed by all. The colored chef Mr. Parks and his wife who prepared the dinner received the highest praise. Also did the two waiters, Butch & Shang, in their white uniforms, received great applause from the members. The evening was enjoyed by games and by Otto, the Canadian entertainer and his assistant (Pat).

George Ralston's son entitled "The Rollers n Blues" made the hit of the evening and Ralston was forced to respond to three encores.

All guests present made a special effort to obtain an opportunity to express their thanks to the members and officers for the splendid entertainment received.

SUCCESSFUL OCCASION

Class No. Eleven, of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School held their annual corn roast at the home of Mr. Harry Schaefer, last night. The class had as their guests Classes No. 2 and 4. The evening was ideal and the place could not have been better so all enjoyed the occasion and ate to their heart's as well as the stomach's content. The only thing that marred the happiness of all was the fact that Mr. Schaefer could not be out to enjoy the occasion with the happy crowd. We are glad to say Mr. Schaefer is improving and we sincerely hope he may soon enjoy his usual good health.

The English language, despite its almost 40,000 words, seems to have its limitations, at least in general use and application. The general use of the word "politics" in connection with nomination elections, political campaigns, bargaining and deals, and pre-election activities should be discouraged.

Politics has often been called the science of government. Last night we heard it described by George Fox, one of the candidates as an expression of the will of the people through the use of the ballot. Both are sound definitions. Most certainly some of the activities we have seen during the past few days do not come within the scope of either definition. There ought to be a new word to describe all that goes before the election and before the people express their will through the ballot box. Probably that well known synonym for war made famous by General Sherman would be the case.

At the hour of writing this nation faces two big events, the September 16th fight and the nomination. The prize fight is much condemned, and rightly so, but we question very much whether men will get more excited and unreasonable about it than about the commonly called politics.

Tonight the fight will be over. Firpo and Dempsey will shake hands and there will be no hatred. The thousands of partisans about the ringside will forget.

Will the same be true of this political campaign? Hardly. Simply because there is less sportmanship in politics than in prize fighting.

Be sports all around, men. Give and Take.

OUR CRIMINAL TRIAL LIST

On Monday last The Progress published the report of the September Grand Jury, which was called upon to "inquire into" eighty-eight criminal cases which had developed in the county since May term of criminal court of this year.

When our reporter went into Prothonotary Ralston's office and asked for the Grand Jury's report and the list of criminal cases pending and undetermined, the Prothonotary very obligingly handed us the report, which was lying upon his desk and, going to his quarter sessions minute book, Mr. Ralston secured his typewritten list of cases made up from his records, which list showed a total of two hundred fourteen cases which he stated was the number of undetermined criminal cases remaining in the quarter sessions court as not disposed of and carried along as the cases on the list for September term of criminal court.

Of these two hundred fourteen cases seventy-seven were placed on the list as "true bills" or indictments following the action of the Grand Jury, which completed its labors the week previous. In making our calculation, or deducting those seventy-seven cases from the total number of cases on the September list—two hundred fourteen—we made an error, or rather the types did, of twenty cases, which error escaped the vigilant eye of the proof reader and instead of there having been one hundred sixty-seven cases continued from previous courts, as stated therein, the number should have been one hundred forty-seven, and we make this correction at the request of Judge Bell, who called same to our attention.

The comment relative to the different classes of crimes charged was correct, which was to the effect that of the cases scheduled for trial at criminal court next week, ninety-two were for liquor law violations. Of these cases forty-six originated since May of this year. Five liquor cases were continued from September term, 1922, four from December term, 1922, and the remainder from the February and May terms of this year.

Of the forty-six liquor law violations which originated since May term, 1923, in seven of them violations of the motor law are also charged.

There are two murder cases for trial, minor degrees probable; thirty crimes against morality, while the remaining number is made up of varying degrees of crime, ranging from stealing to assault and battery with intent to kill.

Our story of the Grand Jury's finding and the number of criminal cases pending was printed purely as a matter of news without bias or prejudice of any kind, and simply stated the facts as we gathered them from the records quoted.

While looking over the quarter sessions docket we found that some fellow either had a sense of humor or no regard for the eternal fitness of things, because we found that Joe Sunlight and William Sunlight had been making moonshine over in the DuBois country and were arrested July 21st by State Trooper Barker for doing so and had to put up $500.00 bail each in order to keep out of the shade of the county jail roof.

CLEARFIELD TRUST CO.

OUR ISLANDS AND WHAT THEY SEND US

Sugar, tobacco, coffee, fruits and manila. They take our farm and factory products in exchange. Alaska sends fish, furs, copper and gold and takes food and manufactures.

Trade of the United States with its non-contiguous territory in the fiscal year 1923 exceeded a half billion dollars against a little more than a quarter of a billion in 1913 and less than a hundred million dollars in 1903.

By the term "non-contiguous territory" is of course meant Alaska, Porto Rico, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Virgin Islands. Our trade with this entire non-contiguous territory has aggregated in the last decade nearly $5,000,000,000, having grown from $83,000,000 in 1913 to $269,000,000 in 1923. Of course during the war with its high prices the trade with the non-contiguous territory showed a considerably larger total than in 1923, while the high price of sugar and other tropical products in the years immediately following the war brought the total for the entire group above the $500,000,000 line in the years 1920 and 1921, while in 1922 it was only approximately $400,000,000 as against $503,000,000 in 1923.

Taking up the details, the imports from the entire group including Alaska were in 1923 $302,000,000 and the exports to them $201,000,000, and in the entire decade ending with 1923 the total imports from the non-contiguous territory was $2,783,000,000 and the exports thereto $1,921,000,000. This fact that the imports from our non-contiguous territory always exceed the exports thereto, is primarily due, according to the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, to the fact that all of the islands lying as they do in the tropics are large producers of the class of material which we must import especially sugar, coffee, manila, tropical fruits, vegetable oils, and tobacco of a quality differing from that produced in our temperate zone climate. They in turn take largely from us chiefly in foods and manufactures but as their population is limited, totaling but about 12,000,000 against our own population of 110,000,000 it is quite natural that our purchases from them should be larger than theirs from us. That they do buy very largely from the United States, however, is evidenced by the fact that Porto Rico takes normally over 90% of its total imports from the United States, and the Philippine Islands about 85% and the Hawaiian Islands about 80%.

Porto Rico still draws a limited quantity of merchandise from Spain, whose products the Spanish element of the population is still acquainted, while in the case of the Hawaiian Islands the large Japanese element of the population brings the percentage which it takes from the United States to a point somewhat lower than in earlier years, and in the Philippine Islands a very considerable percentage of the imports come from the nearby countries, Japan, China and the great trade centers of Hong Kong and Singapore.

Of their total exports Porto Rico sends about 90% direct to the United States, Hawaii 96%, and the Philippines about 80%. In the case of Alaska practically all of the trade is with continental United States.

All of these island territories show enormous increases in their trade since they came under the American flag. In the case of Porto Rico her total imports in 1900 were a little over $5,000,000, in 1921 $68,000,000 while her exports in 1900 were $4,000,000 and in 1921 $79,000,000. In the case of Hawaii the total imports of 1903, the earliest year for which exact figures are available, were $14,000,000 and in 1921 $3,000,000, while her exports grew from $25,000,000 in 1903 to $73,000,000 in 1921. In the case of the Philippine Islands the imports in 1903, the earliest year for which figures are available, were $115,000,000, while the exports grew from $23,000,000 in 1903 to $88,000,000 in 1921. The imports and exports of each of these islands in 1919 and 1920 were even larger than in 1921 but represent abnormal years due to the extremely high price of their chief product, sugar.

What do these areas under the American flag supply us and what do they take in exchange? Porto Rico sends us chiefly sugar, tropical fruits and tobacco; Hawaii sugar, pineapples and coffee; the Philippines sugar, manila, hemp, tobacco, coconuts, coconut oil; Alaska canned salmon, furs, copper, and gold. In exchange they take everything, foodstuffs of all sorts, especially bread and meat, manufactures of all kinds especially cottons, manufactures of iron and steel, and household requirements.

Our trade with the non-contiguous territory in 1923, $503,000,000, was greater than that with the whole world in any year prior to 1850.

BENEFIT BALL

Baseball fans should not fail to give their support to the benefit baseball game at the park tomorrow afternoon between the Philipsburg All-Stars and the Clearfield American Legion team.

This game is being played for the benefit of Jimmy Almond, the Philipsburg catcher, who had a finger split several weeks ago while catching for Clearfield at the Park here, and Guy Cowdick of the local team who broke his left leg in a game at Idamar a couple of weeks ago.

Dividends for Customers

It is now the established policy of the Penn Public Service Corporation to offer its safe 7% Cumulative Preferred Shares to the residents of the communities served.

Thus local people share in the earnings which their business helps to create. A substantial part of the money paid to us by customers for services rendered is, in this way, returned to our customers every 90 days in the form of dividends.

4500 dividend checks mailed out September 1

How successfully this plan has been received may be judged from the fact that today we have 4500 shareholders, 90% of whom reside in this territory. These shareholders received over $75,000 in cash as their September 1st dividend alone. Multiply this by four—$300,000—and you have the amount of dividends we will pay to customer-shareholders for the current year.

Are YOU sharing in this "prosperity" fund?

You now have the opportunity to do so—if you act at once. A very limited number of additional shares is available. You need but $10 down and $10 monthly to own one share. It will make you a partner in this essential industry and start you on the road to better things.

Price $100 and accrued dividends per share.

This Stock is tax free in Pennsylvania. Dividends are exempt from Federal Normal Income Tax.

Progress Editorial For Women

A SERMON BY MOSES

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Our old friend Diogenes obliged me today with a new text for my ever-ready sermon on the: "syrranny of things." Honestly, don't you sometimes feel that the kingdom of heaven is lost to you because of the incubus of things that encumber your life, the things that get under foot and spoil your day, that take all our earnings to obtain and all our energies to keep; that harness us to constant drudgery and withhold us from the freedom that the soul craves?

I do, and so I sympathize with the old philosopher who lived in a tub, and of whom all that most of us know is that he spent his life in the search for an honest man. I sympathize with him, I say, when I read how he walked one day with his friend to see a country fair, where he saw ribbons and looking glasses and nut crackers and many other gim-

cracks; and when he saw all the little brims that made a country fair he said "Lord, how many things there are in the world of which Diogenes hath no need."

Now, naturally I cannot go home and break all my looking glasses, the forever after obnoxious nutcrackers, but I can get the old man's feeling. I also get a nice thrill out of the fact that, like him, I can live in a tub, or a shack in the woods, or a shanty by the side of a far-off road, not so travelled road, and have all I had no need of so many, many things that now clutter up life.

Well, yes, of course, living in a tub as he did, Diogenes wouldn't have much need of so many things; but then, don't you see, the real triumph of Diogenes isn't that he lived in a tub, but, because, not needing things, he could afford to live in a tub. And just because he had come to that triumph of the spirit that made a tub a comfortable place in which to live.

So there's Diogenes' text, and since it was so excellent a sermon in itself there is nothing that I could add that wouldn't spoil the effect.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sheeder and family left today for an extended trip thru Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. Miss Louise Sheeder accompanies the party as far as Lynchburg, Va., where she will enter Randolph-Macon college.

Candidates For G. O. P. Nominations

The scene then shifted to the County Controller's office. Grant H. Thompson was first called but because of a recent illness and a natural modesty Mr. Thompson had delegated his counsel, John M. Urey, to make his address. Mr. Urey explained the functions of the Controller's office and then paid his tribute to Grant Thompson as a man who had no enemies, political, financial or personal. He told of how Mr. Thompson had served in the office for a part of the first year without having any jurisdiction because the terms of the county auditors had not yet run out, and of how he had been the brunt of all the labor in opening the books of the controller's office which books have now been in operation for a year and said he believed that it would be ingratitude now for the people to do other than to elect Mr. Thompson to carry on the work which through his labors were started.

A. G. Woodward of Curwensville, also a candidate for County Controller, next took the floor. Mr. Woodward made a very neat little address in which he said that, with the possible exception of the judgeship, the Controller's office was the most important of all because every contract, every salary voucher and every piece of county business was subject to his approval or rejection. He spoke for the consideration of the voters on the platform of a performance of duty in accordance with the economical and progressive ideas of business which had brought him a measure of success. He made a very good impression.

Next in order were the County Commissioner candidates, all of whom were present except Mr. Weimer, who sent word later that he was detained on county business out in the county, and John G. Maines who had a previous engagement at Madera and for whom Hon. Frank G. Harris spoke. Space forbids our giving in detail the remarks of so many candidates as there are for County Commissioner.

At this juncture Mr. Murray, judicial candidate came in and was introduced. Mr. Murray launched his speech by stating in detail his conception of what a judge ought to be, what his qualifications as to the law and as to citizenship and as to ability. He said he had given these matters a great deal of consideration before announcing his candidacy and, having formed his own conclusion, decided to put his judgment to the test by submitting his case to the people. He pledged a penalty for every conviction regardless of the nature of the law and said he would administer the law according to the statutes without fear or favor.

Mr. Murray was the last of the candidates to speak and Mrs. Piper then called upon District Attorney Arnold to close the meeting with a message to the voters. Mr. Arnold pleaded for a greater interest in primary elections, expressed his belief that the Republican nominees would be of a type that could command the whole strength of the Grand Old Party in November and complimented the women on the manner in which they had taken the lead in bringing the new candidates before the people of Clearfield.

The only statement of a deliberate aside in the statement is that of Abithophel, counselor to King David, and of Abimeon. His counsel was slighted and he benched himself 1023 B. C.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Five girls and a school official were injured today when a large section of the plaster in the main hall of the high school fell during opening exercises.

CANDIDATES FOR C. O. P. NOMINATIONS PLEAD THEIR CASES BEFORE WOMEN VOTERS OF CLEARFIELD BOROUGH

The several candidates for public office who hope to get through the eye of the needle Tuesday and through the eye of another needle in November by the use of the Republican party, stayed away from the arena last evening but the way they stood up under the ordeal leads the unbiased observer to opine that those with a nomination at the hands of the women voters are each and every one worthy of the task.

It was very evident that all of these fellows had washed away all the stains of the cold and the smoke of the battle for they appeared before the meeting held under the auspices of the Council of Republican Women all dressed up and looking their manliest.

Mrs. Scott Piper presided, and with Mrs. Edgar Stage as secretary, the meeting was a got under way with a few preliminary remarks by the chairwoman in which she told of the women's interest in government and asked the candidates to answer certain questions relative to the ways and whereof of their being in the race. The candidates were all lined up in the first but but the audience which is the jury that is now sitting in judgment occupied the seats in the court room proper.

Woodland Community Day Wonderful Success In Every Way; Fine Sports

Woodland did itself proud yesterday afternoon in a great Community Picnic which was participated in by about the whole of Bradford township. The affair which we understand was promoted by the Rooster Club was a huge success. The afternoon was devoted to the entertaining of the mothers and children and the latter together with the men, consumed over eleven hundred ice cream cones and a bushel of peas.

Of this amount the Borough paid one-third and the property owner on each side one-third.

LITTLE BOY LESS THAN 3 YEARS OLD FOUND BY FATHER

Kerr Addition was the scene of a sad occurrence Thursday afternoon when little Stanley, 2 1/2 year old son of James and Mary Kerr, tumbled into a spring near his home and drowned.

PLAYING WITH FIRE Had Gone on for Ten Minutes Before Bring Some Water

The little fellow, the youngest of three children, was playing alone in the yard at his home yesterday afternoon. He had a little bucket and about ten minutes before 5 o'clock went up to the spring above the house to get the bucket full of water.

A SAD OCCURRENCE

It is noted the little boy was found floating in the water below the spring on his back. Nobody saw him fall but about 5 o'clock as the father a miner, was passing by from his work he was shocked to find the child's body in the water.

Here is a new departure method in the manner of comparing prizefighters. The gentleman in white is none other than Champion Jack Dempsey, against whom is silhouetted the blackened figure of Louis Firpo. These outlines are actual photographs, taken by Bob Dorman for The Clearfield Progress, who made them to scale and enlarged each the same amount.

When making the first picture, which was of Dempsey, Dorman marked the spot on his camera where it had been focused, and then hustled away to Atlantic City, where, setting his camera at the same mark again, he backed away from Firpo until the focus was sharp.

The combined results gave two photos—one of Dempsey and another of Firpo—which had exactly the same perspective and measurement in every detail. These were then cut out, superimposed and painted over, producing the graphic comparative sizeups seen above.

It seems to be the fact of nearly every composer to be known by one or two of his "little things"—songs or piano pieces—even though he may have produced serious works in the larger forms which have won the recognition of critics and serious-minded musicians.

This is true of Charles Wakefield Cadman, the American composer, who will make a public appearance in this city with the famous Indian singer, Princess Tsinanina on November 30th. Cadman has written serious chamber music and the scores of two grand operas, together with many orchestral compositions; yet the public at large knows him as the composer of "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water" and "At Dawning," songs made famous by Nordica, Bonci, Gluck, Nielsen, Princess Tsinanina, McCormack, Williams and a score of other great artists.

AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

In this column in Wednesday's issue we replied to a request by G. O. Neff of Westover, as to the law pensioning judges in Pennsylvania. After quoting the law which provides that any judge after two terms on the bench may retire on a pension of half the salary he was receiving at the time of his retirement, for the purpose of giving all the natural and necessary information on the subject, we added a paragraph giving the present salary of the Judge of the Clearfield county courts, which is $10,000, and stated the further fact that for every day in which a judge holds court outside of his home county he is paid $20 per day and all expenses.

Judge Bell saw fit to take us to task in the matter in a communication published in The Progress yesterday. Judge Bell asserts our article was misleading, but if it was the law is misleading because we merely quoted Section 2 of the Judge's Pension Act, which was passed at the legislative session of 1919. In his letter Judge Bell also says:

"I seldom complain about published matter and certainly not with reference to the Progress, but in the issue of yesterday in answering an inquiry of Mr. G. O. Neff the pension matter is so discussed as to be entirely misleading. The serious objection is that it fails to print the proviso to the pension act, which reads as follows: 'Provided, that no compensation shall be paid under this Act for any period during which such judge is engaged in any remunerative business or employment.' There was no occasion or attempt to mislead anybody in our reply to Mr. Neff and we gave him with the proviso as furnished by Judge Bell. The proviso, as will be seen at a glance, makes no change in the pension law, except that it makes it optional with a judge who retires after two terms whether he will accept the pension or not.

In fact a judge who did not like the pension law might find himself in a position similar to that of the Lushman, whose physician prescribed whiskey for him when Pat was a very sick man. When the doctor had left Pat called his wife to his bedside and whispered: "Biddy, the doctor says I'll have to take whiskey, and if I get so sick that I don't want to take it make me take it."

CROOKED RUN CLUB ENTERTAINS

The members of Crooked Run Club and their wives and sweethearts to the number of 57, assembled at their new Club House last evening and enjoyed a sumptuous dinner. The dinner was the best ever served in the club and was enjoyed by all. The colored chef Mr. Parks and his wife who prepared the dinner received the highest praise. Also did the two waiters, Butch & Shang, in their white uniforms, received great applause from the members. The evening was enjoyed by games and by Otto, the Canadian entertainer and his assistant (Pat).

George Ralston's son entitled "The Rollers n Blues" made the hit of the evening and Ralston was forced to respond to three encores.

All guests present made a special effort to obtain an opportunity to express their thanks to the members and officers for the splendid entertainment received.

SUCCESSFUL OCCASION

Class No. Eleven, of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School held their annual corn roast at the home of Mr. Harry Schaefer, last night. The class had as their guests Classes No. 2 and 4. The evening was ideal and the place could not have been better so all enjoyed the occasion and ate to their heart's as well as the stomach's content. The only thing that marred the happiness of all was the fact that Mr. Schaefer could not be out to enjoy the occasion with the happy crowd. We are glad to say Mr. Schaefer is improving and we sincerely hope he may soon enjoy his usual good health.

The English language, despite its almost 40,000 words, seems to have its limitations, at least in general use and application. The general use of the word "politics" in connection with nomination, elections, political campaigns, bargaining and deals, and pre-election activities should be discouraged.

Politics has often been called the science of government. Last night we heard it described by George Fox, one of the candidates as an expression of the will of the people through the use of the ballot. Both are sound definitions. Most certainly some of the activities we have seen during the past few days do not come within the scope of either definition. There ought to be a new word to describe all that goes before the election and before the people express their will through the ballot box. Probably that well known synonym for war made famous by General Sherman would be the case.

At the hour of writing this nation faces two big events, the September 16th fight and the nomination. The prize fight is much condoned, and rightly so, but we question very much whether men will get more excited and unreasonable about it than about the commonly called politics.

Tonight the fight will be over. Firpo and Dempsey will shake hands and there will be no hatred. The thousands of partisans about the ringside will forget.

Will the same be true of this political campaign? Hardly. Simply because there is less sportmanship in politics than in prize fighting.

Be sports all around, men. Give and Take.

OUR CRIMINAL TRIAL LIST

On Monday last The Progress published the report of the September Grand Jury, which was called upon to "inquire into" eighty-eight criminal cases which had developed in the county since May term of criminal court of this year.

When our reporter went into Prothonotary Ralston's office and asked for the Grand Jury's report and the list of criminal cases pending and undetermined, the Prothonotary very obligingly handed us the report, which was lying upon his desk and, going to his quarter sessions minute book, Mr. Ralston secured his typewritten list of cases made up from his records, which list showed a total of two hundred fourteen cases which he stated was the number of undetermined criminal cases remaining in the quarter sessions court as not disposed of and carried along as the cases on the list for September term of criminal court.

Of these two hundred fourteen cases seventy-seven were placed on the list as "true bills" or indictments following the action of the Grand Jury, which completed its labors the week previous. In making our calculation, or deducting those seventy-seven cases from the total number of cases on the September list—two hundred fourteen—we made an error, or rather the types did, of twenty cases, which error escaped the vigilant eye of the proof reader and instead of there having been one hundred sixty-seven cases continued from previous courts, as stated therein, the number should have been one hundred forty-seven, and we make this correction at the request of Judge Bell, who called same to our attention.

The comment relative to the different classes of crimes charged was correct, which was to the effect that of the cases scheduled for trial at criminal court next week, ninety-two were for liquor law violations. Of these cases forty-six originated since May of this year. Five liquor cases were continued from September term, 1922, four from December term, 1922, and the remainder from the February and May terms of this year.

Of the forty-six liquor law violations which originated since May term, 1923, in seven of them violations of the motor law are also charged.

There are two murder cases for trial, minor degrees probable; thirty crimes against morality, while the remaining number is made up of varying degrees of crime, ranging from stealing to assault and battery with intent to kill.

Our story of the Grand Jury's finding and the number of criminal cases pending was printed purely as a matter of news without bias or prejudice of any kind, and simply stated the facts as we gathered them from the records quoted.

While looking over the quarter sessions docket we found that some fellow either had a sense of humor or no regard for the eternal fitness of things, because we found that Joe Sunlight and William Sunlight had been making moonshine over in the DuBois country and were arrested July 21st by State Trooper Barker for doing so and had to put up $500.00 bail each in order to keep out of the shade of the county jail roof.

CLEARFIELD TRUST CO.

OUR ISLANDS AND WHAT THEY SEND US

Sugar, tobacco, coffee, fruits and manila. They take our farm and factory products in exchange. Alaska sends fish, furs, copper and gold and takes food and manufactures.

Trade of the United States with its non-contiguous territory in the fiscal year 1923 exceeded a half billion dollars against a little more than a quarter of a billion in 1913 and less than a hundred million dollars in 1903.

By the term "non-contiguous territory" is of course meant Alaska, Porto Rico, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Virgin Islands. Our trade with this entire non-contiguous territory has aggregated in the last decade nearly $5,000,000,000, having grown from $83,000,000 in 1913 to $269,000,000 in 1923. Of course during the war with its high prices the trade with the non-contiguous territory showed a considerably larger total than in 1923, while the high price of sugar and other tropical products in the years immediately following the war brought the total for the entire group above the $500,000,000 line in the years 1920 and 1921, while in 1922 it was only approximately $400,000,000 as against $503,000,000 in 1923.

Taking up the details, the imports from the entire group including Alaska were in 1923 $302,000,000 and the exports to them $201,000,000, and in the entire decade ending with 1923 the total imports from the non-contiguous territory was $2,783,000,000 and the exports thereto $1,921,000,000. This fact that the imports from our non-contiguous territory always exceed the exports thereto, is primarily due, according to the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, to the fact that all of the islands lying as they do in the tropics are large producers of the class of material which we must import especially sugar, coffee, manila, tropical fruits, vegetable oils, and tobacco of a quality differing from that produced in our temperate zone climate. They in turn take largely from us chiefly in foods and manufactures but as their population is limited, totaling but about 12,000,000 against our own population of 110,000,000 it is quite natural that our purchases from them should be larger than theirs from us. That they do buy very largely from the United States, however, is evidenced by the fact that Porto Rico takes normally over 90% of its total imports from the United States, and the Philippine Islands about 85% and the Hawaiian Islands about 80%.

Porto Rico still draws a limited quantity of merchandise from Spain, whose products the Spanish element of the population is still acquainted, while in the case of the Hawaiian Islands the large Japanese element of the population brings the percentage which it takes from the United States to a point somewhat lower than in earlier years, and in the Philippine Islands a very considerable percentage of the imports come from the nearby countries, Japan, China and the great trade centers of Hong Kong and Singapore.

Of their total exports Porto Rico sends about 90% direct to the United States, Hawaii 96%, and the Philippines about 80%. In the case of Alaska practically all of the trade is with continental United States.

All of these island territories show enormous increases in their trade since they came under the American flag. In the case of Porto Rico her total imports in 1900 were a little over $5,000,000, in 1921 $68,000,000 while her exports in 1900 were $4,000,000 and in 1921 $79,000,000. In the case of Hawaii the total imports of 1903, the earliest year for which exact figures are available, were $14,000,000 and in 1921 $3,000,000, while her exports grew from $25,000,000 in 1903 to $73,000,000 in 1921. In the case of the Philippine Islands the imports in 1903, the earliest year for which figures are available, were $33,000,000 and in 1921 $115,000,000, while the exports grew from $23,000,000 in 1903 to $88,000,000 in 1921. The imports and exports of each of these islands in 1919 and 1920 were even larger than in 1921 but represent abnormal years due to the extremely high price of their chief product, sugar.

What do these areas under the American flag supply us and what do they take in exchange? Porto Rico sends us chiefly sugar, tropical fruits and tobacco; Hawaii sugar, pineapples and coffee; the Philippines sugar, manila, hemp, tobacco, coconuts, coconut oil; Alaska canned salmon, furs, copper, and gold. In exchange they take everything, foodstuffs of all sorts, especially bread and meat, manufactures of all kinds especially cottons, manufactures of iron and steel, and household requirements.

Our trade with the non-contiguous territory in 1923, $503,000,000, was greater than that with the whole world in any year prior to 1850.

BENEFIT BALL

Baseball fans should not fail to give their support to the benefit baseball game at the park tomorrow afternoon between the Philipsburg All-Stars and the Clearfield American Legion team.

This game is being played for the benefit of Jimmy Almond, the Philipsburg catcher, who had a finger split several weeks ago while catching for Clearfield at the Park here, and Guy Cowdick of the local team who broke his left leg in a game at Idamar a couple of weeks ago.

Dividends for Customers

It is now the established policy of the Penn Public Service Corporation to offer its safe 7% Cumulative Preferred Shares to the residents of the communities served.

Thus local people share in the earnings which their business helps to create. A substantial part of the money paid to us by customers for services rendered is, in this way, returned to our customers every 90 days in the form of dividends.

4500 dividend checks
mailed out September 1

How successfully this plan has been received may be judged from the fact that today we have 4500 shareholders, 90% of whom reside in this territory. These shareholders received over $75,000 in cash as their September 1st dividend alone. Multiply this by four—$300,000—and you have the amount of dividends we will pay to customer-shareholders for the current year.

Are YOU sharing in this "prosperity" fund?

You now have the opportunity to do so—if you act at once. A very limited number of additional shares is available. You need but $10 down and $10 monthly to own one share. It will make you a partner in this essential industry and start you on the road to better things.

Price $100 and accrued dividends per share.

This Stock is tax free in Pennsylvania. Dividends are exempt from Federal Normal Income Tax.

Progress Editorial For Women

A SERMON BY MOSES

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Our old friend Diogenes obliged me today with a new text for my ever-ready sermon on the: "syrranny of things. Honestly, don't you sometimes feel that the kingdom of heaven is lost to you because of the incubus of things that encumber your life, the things that get under foot and spoil your day, that take all our earnings to obtain and all our energies to keep; that harness us to constant drudgery and withhold us from the freedom that the soul craves?

I do, and so I sympathize with the old philosopher who lived in a tub, and of whom all that most of us know is that he spent his life in the search for an honest man. I sympathize with him, I say, when I read how he walked one day with his friend to see a country fair, where he saw ribbons and looking glasses and nut crackers and many other gim-

cracks; and when he saw all the little brims that made a country fair he said "Lord, how many things there are in the world which Diogenes hath no need."

Now, naturally I cannot go home and break all my looking glasses, the forever after broken nutcrackers, but I can get the old man's feelings. I also get a nice thrill out of it when I see a tub, or a shack in the woods, or a shanty by the side of a far-off road, not so travelled road, and know that I had no need of so many, many things that now clutter up life.

Well, yes, of course, living in a tub as he did, Diogenes wouldn't have much need of so many things; but then, don't you see, the real triumph of Diogenes isn't that he lived in a tub, but, because, not needing things, he could afford to live in a tub. And just because he had come to that triumph of the spirit that made a tub a comfortable place in which to live.

So there's Diogenes' text, and since it was so excellent a sermon in itself there is nothing that I could add that wouldn't spoil the effect.

Candidates For G. O. P. Nominations

The scene then shifted to the County Controller's office. Grant H. Thompson was first called but because of a recent illness and a natural modesty Mr. Thompson had delegated his counsel, John M. Urey, to make his address. Mr. Urey explained the functions of the Controller's office and then paid his tribute to Grant Thompson as a man who had no enemies, political, financial or personal. He told of how Mr. Thompson had served in the office for a part of the first year without having any jurisdiction because the terms of the county auditors had not yet run out, and of how he had been the brunt of all the labor in opening the books of the controller's office which books have now been in operation for a year and said he believed that it would be ingratitude now for the people to do other than to elect Mr. Thompson to carry on the work which through his labors were started.

A. G. Woodward of Curwensville, also a candidate for County Controller, next took the floor. Mr. Woodward made a very neat little address in which he said that, with the possible exception of the judgeship, the Controller's office was the most important of all because every contract, every salary voucher and every piece of county business was subject to his approval or rejection. He spoke for the consideration of the voters on the platform of a performance of duty in accordance with the economical and progressive ideas of business which had brought him a measure of success. He made a very good impression.

Next in order were the County Commissioner candidates, all of whom were present except Mr. Weimer, who sent word later that he was detained on county business out in the county, and John G. Maines who had a previous engagement at Madera and for whom Hon. Frank G. Harris spoke. Space forbids our giving in detail the remarks of so many candidates as there are for County Commissioner.

At this juncture Mr. Murray, judicial candidate came in and was introduced. Mr. Murray launched his speech by stating in detail his conception of what a judge ought to be, what his qualifications as to the law and as to citizenship and as to ability. He said he had given these matters a great deal of consideration before announcing his candidacy and, having formed his own conclusion, decided to put his judgment to the test by submitting his case to the people. He pledged a penalty for every conviction regardless of the nature of the law and said he would administer the law according to the statutes without fear or favor.

Mr. Murray was the last of the candidates to speak and Mrs. Piper then called upon District Attorney Arnold to close the meeting with a message to the voters. Mr. Arnold pleaded for a greater interest in primary elections, expressed his belief that the Republican nominees would be of a type that could command the whole strength of the Grand Old Party in November and complimented the women on the manner in which they had taken the lead in bringing the new candidates before the people of Clearfield.

The only statement of a deliberate aside in the statement is that of Atholpelt, counselor to King David, and of Abraham. His counsel was slighted and he benched himself 1023 B. C.

Physical Health means Beauty!
HEALTH and beauty go hand in hand. Where the system is run down—the face drawn and haggard—the body limp and lifeless—beauty is missing. Looks of pity suggest those that might have been gages of admiration.

Restore your health and beauty will take care of herself. S. S. S.—the rich blood builder—rekindles the spark of health and lights the blaze of beauty by building red blood cells. The nerve power of your system finds life in these very blood cells. Build more red blood cells and your nerve power will increase. S. S. S. builds them. Rich blood will tingle through your system. That lost charm will return. Your entire system will be repaired. You will be ready to cope with the impurities and blemishes that handicap beauty.

As physical health means beauty so, too, does S. S. S. mean beauty. For S. S. S. means systems that are free from impurities—pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema, rheumatism. S. S. S. and good health go hand in hand.
